Subtropical Storm Alberto aims for Coast

BY CASSANDRA FAVRE
STAFF WRITER

We're in for a wet Memorial Day weekend -- Subtropical Storm Alberto, with maximum sustained winds of 40 mph, has formed in the Caribbean Sea and is expected to be approaching the north-central Gulf Coast on Monday.

In light of Alberto's projected path, the cities of Bay St. Louis, Waveland, Diamondhead and the Hancock County Board of Supervisors have declared a state of emergency.

As of 4 p.m. Friday, the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration issued a storm surge watch for portions of the northern Gulf Coast from Horse Beach, Florida, westward to the mouth of the Mississippi River.

A tropical storm watch has been issued for portions of the northern Gulf Coast from Indian Pass, Florida, westward to Grand Isle, Louisiana, including Lake Pontchartrain, Lake Maurepas and metropolitan New Orleans.

According to NOAA, a tropical storm watch means that tropical storm conditions are possible in the portion of that watch area within 48 hours.

As of 4 p.m. Friday, Alberto was located near latitude 19.4 North, longitude 86.3 West and moving east at two miles per hour. A slow motion to the north was expected Friday night.

"From Saturday afternoon into Sunday, a general northward motion at a faster forward speed is expected, followed by a turn toward the northwest on Monday," according to NOAA.

Heavy rain and thunderstorms were expected to hit the coast at around mid-day on Saturday.

Judge: Number of Hancock County children in foster care down by more than 100

BY CASSANDRA FAVRE
STAFF WRITER

On January 1, there were about 389 children in foster care in Hancock County. As of today, there are 259, Hancock County Court Judge Trent Favre said, with a "very, very minimal recurrence rate."

Favre, who was appointed Hancock County Court Judge over the newly-created court system last December by Gov. Phil Bryant, took the oath of office on Feb. 2.

He has jurisdiction over county court and the youth court.

"We're working the (youth court) cases five days a week," he said. "We also have good working relations with the stakeholders: Child Protective Services (CPS), Court Appointed Special Advocates (CASA) and the family attorney."

Favre said it's "our job to return kids safely to their home."

"I'm the last person to make a decision on the return," he said. "The prosecutor, guardian ad litem are all in agreement, and in most cases, CASA, the CPS worker and family attorney. Five people will say it's time. It's not some unilateral decision. The goal is to do

Paule's Sno-balls celebrates eighteen years in business

BY CASSANDRA FAVRE

On June 2, Paule Adams, owner of Paule's Sno-balls, will celebrate his 18th year of business in Bay St. Louis.

"I was out of work and always wanted to open a sno-ball stand," Adams said. "Growing up, I went to Sal's Sno-balls in Metairie. I like being in the A/C all the time and making the kids happy."

Prior to moving to Mississippi, Adams said, he worked as a fisherman.

"We fell in love with Mississippi," Adams said. "I wasn't born here, but got here as soon as I could."

Sarah Johnson, who has worked for Adams for the past 17 years, said they have several regulars and have seen many of the children grow up.

"We've had children come since they were five, and now they're college grads," she said.

In addition to Johnson, Adams said he has one other employee, Marie, who works the stand one day a week.

Award-winning chef & restaurateur to open juice bar/sustainable produce market in Old Town BSL

BY GEOFF BELCHER
NEWS EDITOR

Celebrated Chef David Dickensauge, Jr. -- the officially-crowned "King of Mississippi Seafood and owner of C&C Italian Bistro in Old Town Bay St. Louis -- is excited about his latest venture -- the Ugly Carrot.

The artisan juice bar and sustainable market, which he plans to open on the second floor of Century Hall in August, "is going to feature 100-percent sustainable products," Dickensauge said recently. "There's not one like it on the entire Gulf Coast of Mississippi."

In fact, he said, it will be the first in all of South Mississippi.

He currently works with 12 farms on a regular basis to procure fresh produce and dairy products at C&C. "There will be no meat" at the Ugly Carrot," he said, "the food will be all plant-based. ... "We're specializing in sustainable produce -- eggs, cream, butter, buttermilk, quinoa, flax seeds, bulgar wheat, vegan options. Everything's packaged and ready to go. We're calling it quick, casual-to-go."

Dickensauge is quick to point out that his food will be "sustainable," versus "organic." Sustainable agriculture is defined as "the production of food, fiber, or other plant or animal products using farming techniques that protect the environment, public health, human communities and animal welfare."

The main difference between "sustainable" and "organic" is that sustainable food is grown without depleting natural resources. The nutrients taken from the soil by crops must be replaced using natural methods.

All the packaged food will be prepared out of C&C, Dickensauge said, while the juices will be made fresh on-site. There will be a rotating selection of 12 or more artisan juices made daily, along with Kombucha, a fermented tea. Jeff Jordan, who recently resigned as head football coach at St. Stanislaus College, will be working with Dickensauge at the juice bar.

A Mississippi native, Dickensauge has been a chef for more than two decades, beginning his career in New Orleans under Chef Jamie Shannon at Commander's Palace, before moving on to Galatoire's. After graduating from the Culinary Institute of New Orleans, Dickensauge returned briefly to Mississippi, working at Beau Rivage Resort & Casino, before moving on to acclaimed restaurants in Miami, Chicago and New York.

He moved back to the south in 2013 and was recognized as the "Best New Chef in Louisiana" in 2015 and took home honors from the Louisiana Seafood Competition. He opened Cork & Cleaver in Gulfport while serving as executive chef for Bin 77 in Baton Rouge. 2017 was a big year for Dickensauge: He was declared the King of Mississippi Seafood at the eight annual Mississippi Seafood Cook-off last may, then opened C&C in the Bay.

Dickensauge said his ultimate goal is to create a circuit of sustainable markets throughout Mississippi, Louisiana and Alabama, featuring items from about 45 different farms throughout the Gulf south.

Bay PD to participate in ‘Click or Ticket’ campaign

STAFF REPORT
SEA COAST ECHO

Bay St. Louis Police Chief Gary Ponthieux on Thursday announced that the Bay St. Louis Police Department is scheduled to participate in the Click It or Ticket campaign from May 25 through June 3.

The national campaign is aimed at enforcing seat belt use, Ponthieux said in the release.

"Each year, the highways fill with families in vehicles on their way to start summer vacation," Ponthieux said in the release. "Buckling up is a simple way to keep you and your family safe while in your vehicle. Police officers see the consequences of not buckling up on a daily basis and the loss of lives that could have been prevented with a simple click of your seat belt."

Ponthieux said in the release that the police department is committed to keeping the community safe and making sure people are buckling up.

According to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, "nearly half of the passenger vehicle occupants killed in crashes in 2016 was unrestrained," the release states.

"During this year's campaign, NHTSA urged law enforcement nationwide to issue seat belt citations to anyone caught in violation of the law -- during the day and especially at night," Ponthieux said in the release. "By increasing enforcement and bringing awareness to drives, the Bay St. Louis Police Department aims to have a successful Click It or Ticket campaign."

The enforcement period and initiative will begin Friday, May 25, at 6 p.m. and conclude Monday, May 28, at midnight. Knowledge learned will serve for the future

This is the time when thousands of students will graduate from high school and college. It is a great achievement for both students and parents. Our society depends on successive generations developing the skills to carry on our society. This is no easy task. Our society has become increasingly complex. For the parents, it is the fruition of the hard and expensive work of raising a child. Each child is different and they don't come with instructions. Parenthood requires an extreme amount of hard work, dedication, love and patience. Congratulations.

The same is true of students. Sitting for hours and hours in class paying attention is not an easy thing to do, especially in our age of endless distractions. Learning discipline and perseverance is critical to becoming a successful adult. Congratulations.

No doubt, many students felt at times that what they were learning was of no significance to success. To be sure, our education system needs to do a better job of changing curriculum to maintain relevance in an ever-changing society.

That said, there is a basic foundation of knowledge that is necessary to preserve if each generation is to advance beyond the previous one. It's not perfect, but the knowledge you have learned will continue to serve you in the future in ways that may not have been readily apparent while sitting in a classroom or memorizing answers from a textbook.

Just a hundred years ago, books were scarce. Expensive libraries were a critical resource. This is still true today, but technology has now put the world's knowledge at the fingertips of anyone with a smartphone. The magnitude of this advance is almost impossible to overestimate.

But a mountain of data is of little use if a person lacks the ability to sift through the noise and find true knowledge. So many young people today use their smartphones to read superficial garbage. Your education is a foundation of relevant knowledge that will help you sift the wheat from the chaff. In school, you learned to site legitimate sources for your studies and research papers. That skill is crucial in today's world of fake news and bogus web sites. Judgement is more important today than ever before. Students graduating today face a world of relentless change like nothing we have ever experienced. Think about the rapid advances of the last 200 years. Now considering the 1,000-fold increase in the speed of communication and knowledge, the change of the next 200 years will be mind boggling. As you move on to college, graduate school or the work world, judgement, adaptability, hard work and perseverance are the key skills you will need to succeed.

Judgement is increasingly important because as the mountain of information grows daily, one's ability to parse through the data and find critical knowledge is more challenging and critical than ever before. Adaptability is important because change is now

The contributions of the NAACP

What do you think the NAACP has contributed to today's society?" That was the essay question posed to participating high school seniors with plans to attend institutions of higher learning this fall. For the third year in a row the Hancock County NAACP Branch Book Award Committee provided a monetary grant ($250) in the form of a "Book Scholarship" to one winning applicant from Hancock County High and Bay High Schools.

This year's winners are Victoria Symone Feazelle of Hancock High who resides with her mother Vickie in Diamondhead and Keely Marie Jones of Bay High who lives with her mom Corinn in Waveland.

In her dissertation Victoria tells us, in part, that when she felt unlucky or depressed her mom would tell her "Be blessed that you have this life. So many others have been through worse." Over the years she further developed an understanding of life listening to her great grandmother in Collins, MS who related her struggles as a young African American in Mississippi. Victoria writes that the unification of the NAACP marked a revolution in America and changed it for the better by allowing "colored" people to live their lives without worrying about being discriminated against simply due to a different skin tone.

"Thank you, NAACP for my rights," she said.

Keely is also aware and thankful for the NAACP. She reminds us that since 1909 the organization has worked tirelessly to ensure the equity of ALL members of society. She writes that in addition to fighting for voting rights, the NAACP continues to protect the liberties in the 13th, 14th, and 15th Amendments that are guaranteed to all Americans.

The Book Award Committee (Gladys Dedeaux, Dorothy Hall, Mary Whavers, Earl Dedeaux, and Floren Dedeaux) also noted the many activities each winner was involved in. Victoria listed a number of school clubs in addition to the Hope Haven Teen Board while serving as Class President for the Student Council. As a member of the Tiger News Team (the Bay High School Broadcast Journalism Club) Keely was elected president in her Sophomore year, appointed cast director in her Junior year, and became Executive Producer in her Senior year. Graduating as Salutatorian, Keely is a member of the National Honor Society and qualified as a Mississippi Scholar.

The first NAACP Book Scholarship award presented by NAACP President Gregory Barabino went to Mary Adelyn Frasier of Bay St. Louis in May 2016. Mary attends Millsaps College. Our 2017 winner, Aidia Madison Suter, planned to attend Loyola University of New Orleans. Victoria will enter the University of Mississippi in August while Keely will attend Mississippi State University in the fall. Keely visited our May NAACP monthly meeting and told us of her plans to study Biological Science with a concentration in Pre-Medicine.

Wicker Helps Advance Veterans and Defense Bills

Senate Sends Major VA Reforms to President Trump to Become Law

In the days leading up to Memorial Day, the Senate advanced two important bills: One would support our military veterans, and the other would support those currently serving in our armed forces. In no small way, these bills help honor the legacies of the brave Americans we remember on Memorial Day – the heroes who have paid the ultimate price to defend our freedom.

Non-VA Providers, Telemedicine Broadens Health Care for Veterans

Supporting our veterans and ensuring they receive the benefits owed to them are bipartisan and bicameral goals. Both houses of Congress passed the "VA MISSION Act" with strong majorities. Once signed by President

From the Senate

by Roger Wicker

Trump, the bill will update the health-care reforms that were ushered in with the "Veterans Choice Act" four years ago.

Specifically, the "VA MISSION Act" would broaden access to health care, allowing veterans to see an approved non-VA provider regardless of how far they live from a VA facility or how long they have waited for care. It would also promote telemedicine, giving veterans in Mississippi, for example, the opportunity to have a telemedicine appointment with a doctor in another state. State lines should not become barriers standing in the way of the care our veterans need.

2019 Defense Bill Builds on SHIPS Act Momentum

Meanwhile, to support our current service members, the Senate Armed Services Committee has passed the "National Defense Authorization Act" for 2019. The annual defense bill is designed to map out our military's current and future needs, addressing and anticipating what is required by our troops to fulfill their missions amid new and evolving challenges.

Last year, I was successful in adding my "SHIPS Act" to the 2018 defense bill, making it the national policy of the United States to meet the Navy's minimum requirement for 355 ships. As the chairman of the Seapower Subcommittee, I am focused on taking the proper steps in this year's bill to build up our fleet quickly and economically. Our naval commanders have already expressed concerns about the fleet's ability to protect our nation's maritime interests.

Bay St. Louis council approves raise, again

BY GEOFF BELCHER
NEWS EDITOR

The Bay St. Louis City Council on Tuesday approved a new salary ordinance which will finally ensure a raise for one long-time city employee.

At its meeting earlier this month, the council postponed discussion on Mayor Mike Favre's proposal to revise the city payroll ordinance in order to approve raises for several employees, but ultimately agreed to a raise for one long-time city utilities worker.

However, since the vote to approve the raise wasn't unanimous, that meant it would be 30 days before the raise would go into effect.

Favre first introduced the raises at the council's April 3 meeting, saying that "Most of them are in the budget already, it's just a step-wise (raise) to get to where they were already budgeted. The other two are just moving into supervisory roles."

Favre declined to publicly release the names or positions of the employees who would be getting the raises, citing privacy issues.

Favre said earlier this month that the move was part of a four-year effort to make Bay city employees' salaries commensurate with other municipalities on the Coast.

"That's always our worry with all these guys, trying to keep them," Favre said.

"If the mayor wants to give somebody a raise, he has to bring it to you and ask you to approve it," city attorney Heather Ladner Smith told the council Tuesday. "However, you have to have the money in your budget."

The council approved the new ordinance 6-0.

Ward 3 Councilman Rev. Jeffery Reed abstained.

In other action Tuesday:

- Reed asked for an update on the status of the repairs on the air conditioning system at the city's Valena C. Jones building on Old Spanish Trail, which houses the Hancock County Unit of the Boys and Girls Club.

"We've got over 200 kids in there and I went in today and had to go back outside to cool off," Reed said. "I wouldn't want my kids to go in there and endure that heat."

"We're trying to get Trane to come take a look at it," city engineer Jason Chiniche said.

""We're going to get it fixed," Favre said.

"The last thing I heard is they're still waiting on a Trane," Reed said Friday. "They were waiting on the Trane dealer to come there and fix whatever's wrong with it. ... As I pressed in the meeting, we want him to get there quick, quick, because it's hot, hot. My understanding is it's been out awhile."

The problem is exacerbated by the fact that the 2017-18 school year ended Wednesday in the Bay-Waveland School District and summer break has begun. That means the children are now in the building from early morning until late afternoon.

Reed said he hopes the system will be repaired early next week.

- In the first of two public forums at Tuesday's meeting, Bay resident Michelle Davison stressed to council members the importance of allowing their constituents to speak to them directly.

"Some of us care enough about where we live to share part of our day or rush here from work to share our opinions," Davison said, "or we might have a question. ... So when we come here for public forum, that's when we can speak to you for three minutes.

"Public forum should not be an irritation. I'm asking you to look at it a different way -- it should be a conversation between you and the people from our area. ... You're our council. You represent us, so public forum is our chance to speak to you.

At the evening's second public forum, Bay resident Rachael Ramsey took the council to task for its lengthy discussion about the possibility of purchasing a new street sweeper.

"You have talked more about that street sweeper than anything you've talked about in the past six months," Ramsey said. "It's an un-budgeted expense. The golf cart ordinance was passed two months ago and you haven't talked about it at all.

"We don't know what's going on with vacation rentals" or other potential revenue streams for the city, "and y'all are spending money like drunken sailors."

She also lambasted the council for deciding to remove a member of the city's historic preservation commission at its last meeting after going into executive session to discuss "potential litigation."

"If y'all go into executive session for litigation and decide to fire somebody, that's embarrassing," she said. "Y'all do your business in public like big people."

- The council voted to advertise for a new member of the historic preservation commission.
- Mickey Lagasse of Compton Engineering approached the council it safely and make sure the parents and child are ready. And they're always going to be people who mess up, we're dealing with humans here."

Favre said that three weeks ago, representatives from the state Supreme Court hosted training classes for youth court staff.

Since assuming office, Favre said, he's added two new staff members: A clerk and staff attorney.

The clerk provides support for the prosecutor, sends out notices, and serves as intake for the delinquent youth services, Favre said.

"It was a long overdue position," he said.

The bulk of the staff attorney's attention is focused on assisting Favre with youth court, he said.

"As county court develops, that will need more attention," he said.

Favre said he also had a chance to "restructure positions we already had and make sure people have the right duties in front of them."

Favre said the staff received a good review from the state Supreme Court.

"The state tracks compliance numbers and is also looking at the timeliness of youth court processes," he said. "The training also gave us the ability to find out things we can work on. The goal is to become the best youth court in the state of Mississippi. The staff is very excited about learning and improving."

In addition to youth court cases, Favre also hears county court cases, which vary, he said. He's heard cases about termination of parental rights, due process for DUI and appeals from criminal courts.

"There have been about 100 civil cases from January to May, the large part is collections," Favre said.

Favre said there are also four jury trials set for October and November.

In this year's election, Favre will run unopposed, since no one else qualified for the judge's race.

His four-year term will begin on January 1, 2019.

Favre said, for him, the difference between working as an attorney—which he views as a service industry — and working as judge, is that he feels that being a judge is more of a "ministry, especially at youth court."

"There used to be a tug of war to make ends meet and fulfill needs in the community," he said. "Now I don't have that tug of war. I feel I'm effecting change through my job and making a difference. It's exciting. There's so much opportunity to help people."

relentlessly increasing. In previous generations, one picked a career and mastered it. Careers lasted a lifetime. Not so today. Entire industries and careers are wiped out and created within the span of a few decades, even years. As the economy changes, so must you change.

Hard work has always been and still is a critical asset. There are millions of smart people with good ideas. But it is hard work that turns those good ideas into business and professional success. Without the ability to apply yourself, you will stall. As our society becomes increasingly affluent, those who have the ability to resist temptations and work hard will have a huge advantage.

Perseverance goes hand in hand with hard work. Despite hard work, you will encounter setbacks and failures. It is the nature of the beast. Perseverance is the skill that allows you to overcome adversity and setbacks and keep on plugging. Hard work is a sprint, but perseverance is the marathon. The old tale about the tortoise and the hare is as true today as it ever was. In past generations, there was pressure to use your education to become a lawyer, doctor, accountant or some of the other mainstream professional occupations. Those are excellent professions that will stand the test of time, but success in today's society is no longer limited to office jobs.

In fact, many of the millionaires in our society today are electricians, plumbers, computer programmers and various tradesmen who built up their own small contracting companies. You don't have to sit behind a desk to make a lot of money. There are many manual skills that are very lucrative. Learning a trade not only provides a stable source of income, but you always have the opportunity to build up your own company if you work hard and have ambition.

It's important to pursue a career that doesn't make you miserable, but remember there is a reason they call it work. Don't expect to have a blast every day. Even the most exciting jobs can become routine. But do expect a job in which you can grow and develop. The prospect of advancement will give you the energy and enthusiasm that will offset some of the boredom which is an inevitable offshoot of today's intense specialization of labor.

For those entering the work world, hang in there. When you entered high school or college, being a freshmen meant you were low man on a four-year totem pole. Entering the workforce means you are low man on a 40-year totem pole. It's tough. You are starting at the bottom.

That's okay. Get motivated by the challenge of a successful career. Look around and you will see the amazing material success of our society and economy. It didn't just happen. The abundance you see around you is the result of an amazing amount of hard work by the previous generation.

Now it's your turn. You can do it!

Preparing our military for the future also means developing the next generation of military leaders. One of the amendments I have proposed for the 2019 defense bill would add 100 Junior Reserve Officers' Training Corps (JROTC) programs in high schools. Currently, some 200 schools across the nation are on the waiting list for these programs. My measure would provide more opportunities for students to participate, especially ly those who live in rural or underserved parts of the country.

My own ROTC experience was not until college, but it proved to be a formative part of my life prior to joining the Air Force. JROTC units are shown not only to improve graduation rates and discipline issues, but they also teach lifelong lessons about service, citizenship, and leadership. This is evident when you look at some of today's leaders with JROTC experience, such as Commerce Secretary Wilbur Ross and Housing and Urban Development Secretary Ben Carson, who have continued to serve their country in various ways.

The history of ROTC and JROTC programs goes back more than 100 years, demonstrating their time-tested value. As we remember past heroes on Memorial Day, we should also look ahead to what will be asked of America's current and future heroes.

work wasn't completed and Marquar over charged/mischarged on items.

The Hancock County Sheriff's Office will not yet release the identity of the person who filed the complaint.

Marquar filed a federal lawsuit against the city of Bay St. Louis last month, claiming a former city councilman used his position to damage the man's business.

The suit was filed in federal court on behalf of Keith Marquar and L&L Marine Construction, LLC.

The defendants are former Bay Councilman Lonnie Falgout and Mayor Mike Favre – both of whom are named individually and in their official capacities as city officials -- and the city of Bay St. Louis.

L&L Marine Construction and Marquar first filed a notice of claim in the case in March 2017, the first step before filing the federal complaint.

According to the suit, Wayne McCants hired Marquar and L&L Construction to build a bulkhead and pier at 144 Elaine Dr. and that then-Ward 6 Councilman Lonnie Falgout, who owns the adjacent property at 146 Elaine Dr., opposed the project and filed objections with the Mississippi Department of Marine Resources and Army Corps of Engineers to halt it.

"When these efforts failed, Mr. Falgout changed tactics," according to the suit. "Initially, he invited Mr. Marquar to lunch and tried to strong-arm (him) into abandoning the project. Mr. Marquar refused to be intimidated, informing Falgout that he would continue. Lonnie Falgout became angry and threatened that he would use his position as city councilman to destroy Mr. Marquar and his business."

The suit alleges that Falgout "intentionally" interfered with the business relationships of Marquar and L&L by contacting clients and urging them to fire L&L and file complaints with the city's building department.

The suit further alleges that Marquar and L&L were slandered, claiming that Falgout published "numerous emails and Facebook posts falsely stating that there are numerous complaints against Marquar and L&L filed with the city building department."

The suit mentions the well-reported squabble between Marquar and Falgout, during which Marquar accused the former councilman of assault.

On Jan. 23, 2017, the suit claims, Falgout flagged Marquar down and directed him to get out of his truck, then assaulted Marquar by shouting threats and getting "nose to nose" with him.

"Mr. Marquar defended himself by pushing Mr. Falgout away from him, causing Falgout to fall down," according to the suit. "Mr. Marquar then walked away from the incident and left the scene."

The suit further alleges that Falgout has "repeatedly misused his public position, acting under the color of law, to cause significant and irreparable damage" to Marquar and L&L Construction Services, LLC.

"In doing so, he acted under the color of law to purposefully erect barriers to interstate trade with the intention of depriving Marquar and L&L of the rights, privileges, or immunities secured to them by the Constitution of the United States of America and its many laws regulating interstate e-commerce."

The suit claims that the city and the mayor were notified that Falgout was "interfering" with Marquar's and L&L's business,, and yet "wholly failed to take any action."

Marquar is seeking a trial and a total of $4.5 million in compensatory and punitive damages, plus attorney's fees, plus "any other further relief" the judge may deem appropriate.

Falgout has denied Marquar's claims.

Although Falgout denied comment after today's arrest he previously stated, "As a former Bay St. Louis City councilman, I welcomed any and all calls I received from my constituents, being good, bad or indifferent."

"I had a legal obligation to research, inspect and notify all parties when called or notified of a concern regarding a constituent."

"Each and every notification was handled individually, both with conversation with my constituent and other research needed. After years of researching, observing and inspecting, I welcome the opportunity to not only represent myself, the city of Bay St. Louis, but most importantly, my former constituents, that notified and asked for my assistance regarding this matter."

Marquar was released from the Hancock County Jail Thursday after posting a $5,000 bond.

Bass said the investigation into the criminal charges is ongoing.

National Safety Commission, 70 percent of American motorists do not know the Move Over law exists, the release states.

"The law is on the books in all states of the union and requires passing vehicles to move over one lane when approaching an incident where emergency lights are flashing and tow operators, police, firefighters, emergency medical technicians are working," the release states.

Artist Cecil Burrowes painted Spirit, the ceremonial casket, which depicts first-responders at the scenes of accidents, the release states.

Singer-songwriter Mike Corbin composed the Spirit Ride's anthem, 'Bless the Spirit Riders.'

According to the release, "hundreds of roadside professionals are casualties each year of roadside incidents; about 100 of them are fatalities. Among first-responders killed, 60 percent of them are tow operators."

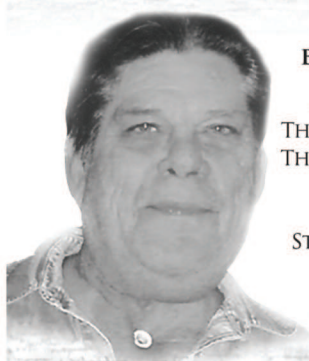

Moss said it is an important cause.

"Two of our tow trucks have been hit working accidents," he said. "This is about keeping our drivers and first-responders safe and bringing awareness."

According to the release, the Spirit Ride was founded by American Towman Magazine and B/A Products and is a project of American Towman Spirit Inc., a non-profit organization.

The government's business is your business.

And Mississippians count on their newspapers to keep apprised of public notice advertising.

Half of Mississippi adults recall reading or seeing public notice advertising in a local or state newspaper.

And almost half (46%) of adults who have seen public notice advertising prefer to receive them in a printed newspaper, much higher than any other source.

Most Mississippians (87%) say keeping the public informed through public notices and legal advertising is an important requirement for government agencies. And the preferred method of receiving these notices is in a printed newspaper along with their associated websites.

According to a 2013 Advertising and Media Use Survey*, legal ads in printed newspapers have a much higher credibility than other media.

SPORTS

Success around each corner in 2017-18

BY JOSEPH W. GEX,
II
STAFF WRITER

There is always an air of uncertainty among administrators, teachers, coaches, student-athletes, fans, parents among many others when a school year opens up. And, that was the case when this academic year opened up on August 7th.

From a sports perspective, the first question that entered many people's minds was "What will my team do this year?". Over the course of the year, the various student-athletes, coaches and teams put on display their very best and the area came away with several state titles along with some outstanding performances.

The year started off on the courts with the sport of volleyball. The area is home to two perennial contenders in Our Lady Academy and Hancock.

The Crescents took center stage as they stormed through the regular season and made quick work of their opponents in the playoffs en route to gaining their sixth consecutive Class I state championship and 11th overall volleyball state title.

During their run in 2017, the Crescents (34-4) claimed their 18th consecutive division title.

The Hancock Lady Hawks also stormed through the regular season and into the playoffs but fell short of the state championship by two games.

The Lady Hawks (26-8) claimed their sixth consecutive division title prior to the playoffs.

The two teams were also led by two integral players. For OLA, the Crescents were paced by three-time All-American Emma Funk who ended her career being crowned MaxPreps National Player of the Year and signing with Trinity University.

For Hancock, the Lady Hawks were led by two-time All-American Madison Ladner. She signed with Coastal Alabama Community College.

The Bay High Lady Tigers (6-17) did not advance to the state playoffs.

Cross Country also took to the course early in the school year. Saint Stanislaus College and Our Lady Academy both have had dominant squads in the past and this year was no exception. The Rocks finished third overall in Class 4A while OLA ended their season in 8th overall in Class 2A. The Lady Hawks of Hancock were 23rd and the Hawks were 24th, respectively, in Class 6A. Bay High does not field a team in cross country.

Swimming is a relatively new sport in Mississippi but it has not taken long for a few area squads to make their presence known with some waves.

Both OLA and SSC placed third overall in Class I while Hancock ended in 14th overall on Class II boys. Bay High does not field a swim team.

The king of sport in the South is without a doubt football and all three area teams field a team that hits the gridiron in the fall. The Bay High Tigers suffered some bumps and bruises along the way to a 0-10 season. The Hancock Hawks were the surprise team perhaps in the entire state as they ran to a 10-3 finish and a Class 6A state quarter-final appearance. It was the Hawks farthest advance in the post season in program history.

The Rocks (6-6) ended the season in the second round of the Class 4A state playoffs to mark the fifth consecutive season advancing that far and the 14th time in the last 16 years of advancing to the postseason.

The fall sports gave way to the winter action of basketball and soccer. These two sports have been relatively kind to all the area schools over the years. And, the 2017-18 school year was no exception.

On the hardwood, the Bay High Tigers (20-11) claimed the Division 8-4A title for the second consecutive season and advanced to the second round of the Class 4A state playoffs. The Lady Tigers (4-23) struggled through injuries this past season to continue their streak of postseason appearances in 22 of the last 23 years.

The Hancock Hawks (4-23) were not able to advance to the postseason in either girls or boys action. The boys struggled through the season eventually hiring a new head coach following the season while the Lady Hawks (22-8) showed improvement only to get outlasted in several games.

The Crescents (2-19) and the Rocks (13-16) continued to build a foundation with marked improvement on both squads.

On the soccer field, the area showed tremendous strength. The Rocks (19-3-1) won their fourth Class 4A state title in the last five years after claiming the Division 8-4A title. The Bay High Tigers (7-8-3) fell just short of advancing to the Class 4A state playoffs while the Hancock Hawks (10-10-1) also missed the postseason.

In girls soccer, the Bay High Lady Tigers (12-8-3) advanced to the postseason and missed the Class 4A state title game by one game. The Lady Hawks (9-9-2) missed out on the postseason and recently hired a new coach.

The Crescents (9-7-4)

Hancock All-American Madison Ladner

played a tough schedule early and it paid off leading them to the South State championship game.

In February the spring sports took off with several area squads enjoying record breaking years.

In baseball, the Rocks (12-12) ended the year at .500 but advanced to the second round of the Class 4A state playoffs after starting the year at 3-9. The Bay High Tigers (11-11) also finished the year at .500 and narrowly missed out on the playoffs. The Hancock Hawks (11-11) finished .500 for the season and was on the outside looking in for the playoffs.

On the softball diamond, the Hancock Lady Hawks (14-9) enjoyed a solid year and advanced to the second round of the Class 6A state playoffs for the third consecutive season.

The Bay High Lady Tigers (10-16-1) narrowly missed the Class 4A state playoffs after seeing marked improvement. The Crescents (3-18) missed out on extending their season.

On the links, the OLA Crescents proved to be the team to beat as they claimed the school's first Class I state golf championship after finishing state runner-up four years in a row. The Hancock Lady Hawks ended the year fifth in Class 6A. The Bay High Lady Tigers do not field a team.

On the boys side, the Hancock Hawks had an individual participant in the state tournament. The Rocks ended the year 14th overall in Class 4A. The Bay High Tigers do not field a team.

On the tennis courts, the SSC/OLA team advanced to the second round of the Class 4A state playoffs. In the individual state tournament, there were several area participants representing all area schools. The mixed doubles team of James Estrada/Paige Palazzo of SSC/OLA were silver medalists in Class 4A.

In track and field, area teams had record breaking years. The Rocks ended the season as Class 4A state runner-up for the second consecutive year. However, this year the Rocks were leading the state meet going into the final event and ended up losing by just nine points.

The Rocks were anchored by their school record breaking 4x100m and 4x200m relay teams (Robin Spanks, Delvin Henry, Brandon Bordelon and JD Rutherford), their triple headed monster in the pole vault (three-time state champion and state record holder Taylor Necaie, bronze medalist William Weber and Davis Scharp) and their golden hurdler Brandon Bordelon.

The Crescents ended up fourth overall in Class 2A girls competition with all-everything Olivia Gelpi (state champion 300m hurdles, silver medalist 100m hurdles and bronze medalist triple jump) and state champion pole vaulter Grace Bradford leading the way.

The Bay High Lady Tigers had Kylaryn Kilpatrick earn a silver medal in the long jump in Class 4A.

The Hancock Lady Hawks had two participants in the state meet.

Hancock and Bay High did not have any participants in the boys divisions.

The Bay High dance team won a state title for small varsity kick and placed third in small varsity jazz in MHSAA sponsored activities.

In a non-MHSAA sponsored team state championship, the SSC sailing team won the state title team racing.

Now that the schools have closed the books on the 2017-18 school year, the returning student-athletes hit the off-season training regimen throughout the summer with the hope that the 2018-19 school year fares better than this one did.

The golden dreams have now started to take place and before too long the next cycle will be upon us all in early August. See

'A Toast to Alice' -- Appreciating the arts

BY GEOFF BELCHER
NEWS EDITOR

More than a hundred people got the opportunity to enjoy an invitation-only "Night of Appreciating the Arts" at the newly-renovated Alice Moseley Folk Art & Antique Museum in Bay St. Louis.

"We were overwhelmed with the amount of people that went in and out throughout the night," Lonnie Falgout, director of the Alice Moseley Foundation, said. "The local people came out and supported it and the people who have joined from around the country and around the world are getting involved."

Falgout said that he's received correspondence and well-wishes about the museum's new look and new direction from people as far away as Australia.

One of the highlights of the evening on Wednesday was when Tim Moseley -- son of the late Miss Alice and founder of the museum -- read aloud "A Toast to Alice" to Myrt Haas.

Haas wrote the poem shortly after Miss Alice's death in 2004.

"You were one of her favorite people," Tim told Haas.

"She was one of my favorite people," Haas replied. "We both had a wicked sense of humor."

Tim Moseley opened the museum in Miss Alice's former home, "The Blue House," at 214 Bookter St. across from the Depot. The museum board made the decision to move it late in 2012 and began the laborious process of moving everything into the Depot, where the museum celebrated its grand re-opening in early March 2013.

Now, five years later, Miss Alice's legacy is a booming tourist attraction for Bay St. Louis, featuring more than 50 original folk art paintings, antique furniture, pottery and art glass. Last month, the museum closed for a few weeks to revamp and redesign the displays.

"We're bringing Miss Alice into the 21st century," museum Marketing Director Shannon Wooten said at the time. "We want to become a resource for the entire community. We are not just a museum that promotes Miss Alice. We are a museum that promotes folk art and the ability to transform folk art into Coast art. We're here for the whole community."

The museum will also soon begin a new series of free music and art festivals. The first installment is scheduled for June 16, to be headlined by the group Blue Magnolia.

Admission to the Alice Moseley Folk Art & Antique Museum is always free -- Miss Alice wanted everyone to be able to enjoy her work, regardless of their financial situations, Wooten said.

Free hosted group tours are also available.

For more information or to schedule a group tour, you can contact the museum at 228-467-9223; or via e-mail at marketing.alicemoseley@gmail.com.

about the possibility of joining with the city of Waveland to create a bicycle/walking path down the length of Central Avenue. Lagasse said the Waveland Board of Aldermen had already approved its end of the project, and the Bay could potentially piggy-back on the deal at a cost-savings and create a connection between the two cities that would help both parties.

The council directed Chiniche to work with Lagasse to see about the feasibility of the project, without committing the city to a major investment. Part of Chiniche's task will be to research the possibility of state and federal grants that would help pay for the project.

SEA COAST ECHO

Hancock High School's class of 2018 was joined by family and friends to celebrate a great milestone – high school graduation. The 319 graduating seniors received their diplomas during the commencement ceremony on May 24th at Brett Favre Stadium.

Prior to graduation, the seniors carried on two long celebrated traditions. On May 3rd, seniors paraded through the halls in their caps and gowns at each of the four elementary schools, the middle school and the high school, providing an opportunity for past teachers and administrators to celebrate with them and to serve as a role model for students currently in school. They also participated in Senior Assembly May 18th with the community gathering to celebrate the seniors upcoming graduation and the junior class moving up to take their place as the seniors departed the assembly.

The Class of 2018 is a very decorated class. Besides college scholarships, Hancock students were honored with many academic, leadership and community awards as well. Students were recognized during the Night of Scholars on May 1st and Senior Awards night held May 21st. Sixteen students achieved membership in the prestigious ACT 30+ Club.

Among the many awards presented to the graduating class during Senior Awards night were the honors of valedictorian and salutatorian. The class of 2018 salutatorian is Rachel Huynh, daughter of Thu Van Huynh. She was awarded the Salutatorian Medal and has plans of attending The University of Mississippi where she will pursue a medical degree.

The 2018 Hancock High Valedictorian Medal was awarded to Skylar Cuevas, daughter of Donette Malley and Jeffrey Cuevas. Skylar plans on attending Vanderbilt University where she too, will pursue a medical degree.

Sixty seniors qualified as Mississippi Scholars. These students have completed a defined, rigorous academic course of study that prepares them for successful transition to college or university coursework or vocational and technical training necessary to enter today's competitive job market.

“Harvey” Opens Soon at Bay St. Louis Little Theatre

SEA COAST ECHO

The Bay St. Louis Little Theatre will finish the season with the iconic Pulitzer Prize winning production “Harvey” written by Mary Chase. It was been adapted for film and television several times, most notably in a 1950 film starring James Stewart.

Elwood P. Dowd is an affable man who claims to have an unseen (and presumably imaginary) friend Harvey — whom Elwood describes as a six-foot, one-and-one-half-inch tall pooka resembling an anthropomorphic rabbit. Elwood introduces Harvey to everyone he meets. His social-climbing sister, Veta, increasingly finds his eccentric behavior embarrassing. She decides to have him committed to a sanitarium. When they arrive at the sanitarium, a comedy of errors ensues.

The show is directed by Keith Gregory, assisted by Michael Brown, and produced by Cheryl Grace. The cast includes Barry Newman, Jennifer Noll, Alana Freimanis, Shannon Wooten, Bill Matkin, Bill Myers, Robert Smith, Jim Russell, Irv Hansen, Linda Allen, Michelle LeBlanc, and Gloria Noonan. Set is designed by Jen Coulter. Set construction is by Jen Coulter and Dean Noel. The stage manager is Jen Coulter. Light and sound is managed by Betsy Noll.

The show dates and times are June 1, 2, 8, and 9 at 8pm and June 3 and 10 at 2pm. Doors open one hour before the show and seating starts 30 minutes before each show.

Tickets for the show can be purchased online at www.bsllt.org or purchased at Lulu’s at 126 Main Street or Twin Light Creations at 136 Main Street. Ticket fees are $18 adults, $10 Seniors 65+, veterans, military, and students with ID, and $8 for children 12 and under. Seat reservations can be made by calling 228-467-9024 or email the Little Theatre. Reservations for seats must be made for all ticket holders including season ticket holders to be able to accommodate the show’s audiences.

The Little Theatre website www.bsllt.org has more information and pictures of “Harvey” cast and production rehearsals.

Sickle Cell Foundation Golf Tournament at The Bridges

SEA COAST ECHO

The 5th Annual Knights and Ladies of Peter Claver Sickle Cell Foundation Golf Tournament will be held at The Bridges Golf Course at Hollywood Casino in Bay St. Louis, on Saturday, June 2. The two-player scramble format will begin with a shotgun start at 8:00 am.

"It has been a tremendous journey so far," said KPC Council #26 Grand Knight and tournament co-chair Joseph Piernas. "We have raised almost $15,000 so far, and the response this year has been great."

"The Sickle Cell Foundation of Mississippi does great work helping families, and we are honored to be a part of that," said Piernas.

A member of the Knights of Peter Claver Ladies Auxiliary, Florence Jordan knows from personal experience the importance of the work of the Sickle Cell Foundation of Mississippi. Jordan's daughter lost her battle with the disease in 1999.

"Alicia was two years old when she was diagnosed with sickle cell anemia," said Jordan. "Our lives were never the same again. It is a very painful and scary disease. Alicia was in and out of doctors offices and hospitals all her life."

"What the Knights of Peter Claver and Ladies Auxiliary are doing helps families," said Jordan. "I am so glad that every year we are able to raise money for the foundation."

Golfers of all levels are invited to participate. Prizes will be awarded for first, second and third place. Additional prizes will be awarded to the first hole-in-ones made on designated par three holes.

The entry fee is $160 per team ($80 per person). Individual players are welcome and will be assigned to a team. Lunch and beverages will be provided to each player.

Individuals or businesses may support the Sickle Cell Foundation Golf Tournament by purchasing tee box signs ($100 per). Also, ball drop tickets may be purchased from members of the organizations at a cost of $5 or three for $10. Half of the ball drop money raised will go to the person(s) whose ball drops into the designated hole.

The Sickle Cell Foundation Golf Tournament is jointly sponsored by The Knights of Peter Claver and Ladies Auxiliaries Councils and Courts #6 & #26 (St. Rose de Lima in Bay St. Louis and Our Mother of Mercy in Pass Christian).

Money raised goes to the Sickle Cell Foundation of Mississippi, which helps families in Mississippi affected by sickle cell anemia. Some of the money is used for traveling expenses of families traveling back and forth to Jackson for treatment.

Registration forms may be picked up from any member of the Knights of Peter Claver and Ladies Auxiliary. For more information, contact Joe Piernas, (228)323-2372, Melvin Cook, (228)243-3205, or Maurice Singleton (228)216-7827.

Meet sweet Mindy. We will spare you the details of her abandonment, but it was cowardly and cruel, and we are just relieved that this happy, sweet girl was not harmed! Once thing is for sure, whoever owned Mindy did her a huge favor, because we will keep her safe and loved until her true, deserving forever family comes her way. Thankfully, Mindy is resilient, and bears no ill will towards people, despite her callous treatment. In fact, she craves the attention and affection of our staff and volunteers, and we are happy to oblige. She is very lively and loves to romp-n-play in our doggie exercise yard. Mindy does need some basic training in regard to jumping, but we feel that, once she becomes more confident, she will respond to positive training. We are not sure of Mindy's breed mix...Miniature Pinscher, a little chocolate Lab, and maybe even a smidge of Doberman Pinscher? At approximately 11 months old, she is of medium size, and is unlikely to grow much larger. Mindy's high energy level would best suit her to a family with middle school aged children or older. She would be a great companion for an active single person or couple, who would ensure that she gets plenty of exercise. Please consider giving Mindy the second chance she so deserves. Call 466 4516 for more information on this adorable girl, and visit our Facebook Page, Hancock County Animal Shelter, MS, to see more pictures of her, and of the many other wonderful fur babies looking for their forever homes.

DEVOTIONAL PAGE

WILL YOU BE THE ONE TO SAY "HERE AM I! SEND ME."

BY GARY ANDREWS

GARY@GADEVOTIONALS.COM

In today's world it seems that sin has taken over the ideology of many people. Sin has crept into our media, our businesses, our government, our homes, and yes, even our churches.

The same thing happened to the Israelites. They turned away from God and turned to idols just as we have in our modern day society.

Greed, money, material possessions, etc. have become our idols. We have lost our caring attitudes about our family, friends, and neighbors and look upon their status with lust and envy in our hearts.

Hopefully God will raise up another prophet just as He did in the days of the wayward Israelites. God got the attention of a young man through a great vision. This young man was in the Temple worshipping the Lord God Almighty when this vision came over him.

This young man saw the Lord God on a throne, high and lifted up, and the train of His robe filled the temple. He saw strange creatures called seraphim standing before the throne of the Lord. Each creature had six wings which two of them covered his face, two others covered his feet. The last two flew him through the air to do God's will and each creature called out to one another, "Holy, holy, is the Lord of hosts. The whole earth is full of His glory!"

This young man was Isaiah and he felt the posts of the door shake by the voice of him who cried out, and the house was filled with smoke. Isaiah cried out "Woe is me, for I am undone! Because I am a man of unclean lips, and I dwell in the midst of a people of unclean lips; For my eyes have seen the King, the Lord of hosts."

Aren't we in a world today filled with unclean lips? All we have to do is look around us and see the evil on our streets. We hear each day about robberies, muggings, murders, and other acts of disgrace. Many of our politicians tell us one thing but do another. They make rules and regulations for all of us but have a different set of rules for them. Many of our media report opinions instead of stating facts and this has confused a lot of the population.

Isaiah's iniquities were taken away and his sin was purged because the Lord forgave him. All of us living today can experience the same forgiveness just by asking Jesus into our hearts and confessing our sins to Him. He will change your life if we are sincere in being His child.

In Isaiah 6:8 the Lord ask "Whom shall I send and who will go for us? Then Isaiah said, "Here am I! Send me." What we need in the world today is another Isaiah. Who will be willing to stand up and say to the Lord, "Here am I! Send me." Will you be the one? In verse 9 the Lord said, "Go, and tell this people."
